

Holistic Approach to Evaluation of Faculty Teaching

For more information on student evaluations of teaching, please contact Educational Evaluations (edevals@ucsf.edu).

For more information on the Teaching Observation Program, visit <https://meded.ucsf.edu/cfe/teaching-observation-program>

Holistic Teaching Reflection Prompts:

Reflection Prompts / Questions to Ask Yourself

What strategies have gone well and should be repeated?

- What strategies are most likely to help my students learn what they need to learn? What strategies will I use to meet student needs?
- What do I need to learn and do to promote better student outcomes?
- What source of knowledge/evidence can I use to make all of this happen?

What was the impact of changes I made to my teaching practice?

- What impact did I have on student achievement?
- What is my explanation of this?
- How effective were those changes in promoting my students' learning and/or skills?

What are the implications of what I have learned to my future teaching?

- What should I keep doing and what should I stop? What should I change or refine?
- What new challenges, if any, have become evident?
- What opportunities can I provide for students to express their learning in multiple ways? How can I encourage students to take ownership of their learning?
- What are my next learning steps?